MUNICH CONSUL BACK.

Unusual spectacular features of today's opening ceremonies offset the undertone of profundity. Woman suffrage workers stormed the capitol galleries were armed with yellow pennants. In corridors and offices, workers buttonholed congressmen.

The return to public life today of many republican warhorses was another feature. Among those who came back were: Uncle Joe Cannon, Nick Longworth, Cy Sullivan of New Hampshire, Senator Curtis of Kansas, and Representatives Hill of Connecticut, McKinley, Sterling and Henderson of Illinois, and Lord of Michigan.

Gallery habitues missed many familiar faces, including those of former Senators Root, Burton, Briarwood and Uncle Ike Stephenson; and those of Representatives Payne, Calder, Bartholdt, Floyd of Arkansas, Levy of New York, Palmer of Pennsylvania, Donovan of Connecticut and Stanley of Kentucky, now governor.

Among others commanding popular attention were: Representative Schall of Minnesota, the only blind member of the house; Meyer London, the sole socialist; and Representative Martin of Louisiana, a progressive.

An avalanche of bills, resolutions and petitions swamped both senate and house clerks. There were thousands of the bills, on every conceivable legislative subject. Especially noticeable were those proposing various war measures. The government printing office will be unable to handle the landslide of documents for several days.

Usual Scramble for Seats.
There was the usual scramble for seats to view the opening. The gallery crush was terrific. An hour before the session opened, practically every seat was filled. The doors opened at 10 a. m. with long lines of people waiting. Admission on the house side was by card only. Each member was given two cards.

Fond mothers, wives and sweethearts of members looked down at the oaths were administered. Feminine finery and furs lent a touch of color to the massed galleries. Women spectators were in the majority.

The White House reserved sections were also occupied by members and guests of the president's household. Hundreds of persons couldn't get in. Senatorial dignity put a damper on demonstrations in the senate. Flowers were sent to the desks of many. The subdued hum of repressed excitement in the senate was in sharp contrast to the clamor and tumult in the house.

Tomorrow, real business will begin. Committee assignments are practically completed and initial measures drafted. First on the program is the extension of the emergency war tax, which expires Dec. 31. This is expected to be followed shortly by a resolution extending present duties on sugar, which is scheduled to go on the free list next May.

The suffragists bore a monster petition bespeaking presidential and congressional aid for the federal surface amendments. The demonstration was marked by the loss of a hundred thousand names on the scroll which was half a mile long. It was expressed from Wilmington, Delaware, and disappeared en route.

DEFENSE IS PROBLEM.

next summer is predicted by veteran legislators.

There were the usual mammoth crowds in both senate and house galleries, representing the eyes of a hundred million Americans. Today's actual business was confined to the routine of swearing in new members, organization of both houses and notification of the president of the new legislative epoch.

As the gavel fell at the stroke of 12 at both ends of the capitol, officials and spectators were sobered by the gigantic tasks looming ahead. Vice President Marshall presided in the senate and South Trimble, house clerk, in the lower body pending Speaker Clark's election. After the routine tasks both bodies adjourned until tomorrow to await the president's message, according to ancient and legal precedent.

As complemented today, the result of congressional elections in November, 1914, the democratic majority in the senate was increased from 13 to 16. In the house it was reduced from 143 to 25.

New Senate Lineup.

The new senate lineup today was: Democrats, 56; republicans, 40. The new house: Democrats, 230; republicans, 196; progressives, 7; socialists, 1; independents, 1. The last house had 286 democrats, 125 republicans, 17 progressives and 1 independent. For the first time since the 62d congress the socialist party was again represented today, Meyer London of New York being the member.

Re-election of President Wilson and continued democratic control of the nation's destinies was conceded by most legislators to hang upon the results of this session. Political flavor was added to the day by the presence in Washington of the democratic national committee, which meets tomorrow to decide the time and place of the 1916 democratic national convention. A week later the republican national committee meets here for the same purpose. The reconvening of congress was heralded among all party leaders as marking the opening of the 1915 political campaign.

Both legislative and political interest centered in the administration's billion dollar national defense program. Whether democratic opposition would defeat the president's plans and also cause a breach in democratic solidarity for the next campaign, caused much discussion. Chairmen of the naval and military committees had the bills practically drafted and ready for early introduction.

Presentation to congress of the annual appropriation estimates insured another billion dollar congress. Increased expenditures for the navy and army preparedness program bulged the requests.

Unusual spectacular features of today's opening ceremonies offset the undertone of profundity. Woman suffrage workers stormed the capitol galleries were armed with yellow pennants. In corridors and offices, workers buttonholed congressmen.

All-N. W. Team.

Left tackle—Eakins, Washington, '11, 2 years on team.

Left guard—Fenton, Oregon, '15, 2 years on team.

Center—Walker, O. A. C., '06, 3 years on team.

Right guard—Babcock, Washington, '09, 2 years on team.

Right tackle—Dimmick, Whitman, '08, 3 years on team.

Right end—Sutton, Washington, '14, 3 years on team.

Quarter—Coyle, Washington, '12, 4 years on team.

Left half—Miller, Washington, '16, 2 years on team.

Right half—Rader, W. S. C., '09, 3 years on team.

Fullback—Clark, Oregon, '09, 2 years on team.

The all-northwest team for all-time is selected from players who have been chosen the most times for places on the all star team. For that reason Hug Miller this year displaces Vincent Borleske who last year occupied the left halfback position. Borleske made the all-northwest two times and Miller has been chosen three times. Weo Coyle, former University of Washington quarterback, continues to be the only player who was selected four times for a position.

An appropriate Gift

for everyone on your list

From grandmother, who is not too old to be enthusiastic over a pretty pin for her dress, or a silver case for her spectacles, to baby, whose chubby hands would just fit around a silver cup or tiny spoon.

Rumania to Seize Shipping.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Military authorities will commandeer all foreign shipping in Rumanian ports Monday, an official Bucharest notice said. The chief significance of this order may be that Rumania intends to seize the vessels on the Danube rather than in the Black sea. If she does take such a step, Bulgarian steamers and barges, carrying munitions to Bulgaria and food to Hungary, would be seized.
